Adult Education Cuts ... SF Skyscraper Climber on Trial ... Sports Roundup

San Jose Slashes Adult Education Budget

Major cuts are in store for adult education in San Jose. Last night the school board of San Jose Unified voted unanimously to cut two-thirds of the adult-ed budget: about $3.5 million.

Millenium Tower Climber Goes to Trial

The trial is underway for the man they call "Spider-Dan" after he was caught scaling a San Francisco skyscraper. According to the Examiner, Daniel Dale Goodwin is pleading not guilty to charges of creating a public nuisance and trespassing.

Bay Area Sports Roundup

The Sharks won their third game in a row last night. San Jose beat Vancouver in a shootout, 2-1. In college basketball, Cal men lost to UCLA, and Stanford men lost to USC. But the Cardinal women beat UCLA, and Cal women beat USC. Pro hoops, the Warriors host the Kings tonight in Oakland.
